

Being An Outstanding TA (& Knowing You Are) - Talking to OFSTED!

Friday 24th November 2017

13:00 - 16:00

Hopwood Hall College, Rochdale Campus

Trainer: Jane Walton (The TA Advisor)

Audience: Teaching Assistants

This workshop aims to support TAs to successfully identify how they practice, promote what they actually do and explain why the vital work that they do benefits pupils and teachers. The workshop will also help support staff to prepare effectively and professionally for Performance Management interviews/reviews.

The workshop content includes:

- Investigating the skills and knowledge that TAs use on a daily basis without thinking about exactly how and why they do it
- Reflecting on how TAs are individually deployed and what impact this has on the pupils that they support
- To consider personal development targets that will increase professional confidence and self-esteem

NB: This workshop content is based upon the most recent research relating to maximising the impact of TAs carried out by the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) and Maximising the Impact of TAs (MITA).
